How to publish at Nature Photonics

Nature journals in the physical sciences will be discussed with particular emphasis on Nature Photonics. Historic data of submissions and acceptances will be shown, showing some strong geographic trends. The importance of cover letters, what makes a useful referee report, how to appeal (and how not to appeal), and other types of opportunities for getting published in Nature Photonics (Reviews, Correspondence, Commentary, etc.) will be covered. Bring all of your tough questions.
